

Kellie Tetrick

As a longtime resident of West Virginia, Commissioner Kellie Tetrick moved to New Castle County, Delaware in July of 2012. Commissioner Tetrick started visiting family members living in Delaware in 2004 and, during her visits, she enjoyed what the State of Delaware has to offer in culture, education, and employment opportunities. In the summer of 2012, Commissioner Tetrick moved to New Castle County when she accepted a position as a high school and GED instructor at Baylor Women's Correctional Institution. The next summer, she was promoted to Teacher/Supervisor at James T. Vaughn Correctional Center. In the fall of 2014, Commissioner Tetrick accepted the position as principal of the James H. Groves Adult High School, Red Clay Center in the Red Clay Consolidated School District, where she is currently employed. Commissioner Tetrick is a graduate of West Virginia University, where she earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in History and a Master of Arts degree in Secondary Education. She began her professional career as a middle and high school social studies teacher and later in teaching adults. This experience led her to her current position as a principal of a school for adults to learn English as a second language and/or earn a high school diploma or GED.

Since moving to New Castle County, Commissioner Tetrick sings Alto I/Soprano II in both the NewArk Chorale and the Delaware Women's Chorus. She has traveled internationally with the Delaware Women's Choir and she serves on the board of the NewArk Chorale. Professionally, Commissioner Tetrick recently completed her second two-year term as secretary of the board for the Delaware Association for Adult and Community Education (DAACE) and now serves as a general DAACE board member for the association. Commissioner Tetrick currently resides in Newark, DE and works in Wilmington, DE. She was appointed to the Ethics Commission by County Council and her term expires in March 2021.
